BOB GILBERT OUT FOR RE-ELECTION

EFFICIENT TREASURER OF NYE COUNTY ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY.

R. F. Gilbert is at present treasurer of Nye county. He is perhaps one of the best known men in this county, having lived here for the past thirty years. Mr. Gilbert will be a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket and there is not a scintilla of doubt but that he will be nominated and re-elected. As custodian of the county's funds he is charged with a duty that requires honesty as well as efficiency. That the people have the utmost confidence in him is demonstrated by the fact that he has thrice been elected to this office. At the present writing there is no other candidate in the field, nor is there any one likely to run in opposition to such a strong man as Bob Gilbert.

NEVADA ALPINE'S NEW DIRECTORATE

T. J. LYNCH BECOMES SECRETARY AND GENERAL MANAGER.

At a meeting of the Nevada Alpine Mining company yesterday afternoon, S. H. Brady was elected president; E. J. Roberts, vice president; A. T. Johnson, treasurer, and T. J. Lynch secretary and general manager. W. B. Alexander of the Montana-Tonopah was added to the directorate.

The Nevada Alpine, which is situated at Lone Mountain, has already produced over $500,000. The ores averaging $138 per ton by the carload. It is a lead carbonate, carrying silver and a small amount of gold. The smelters consider it the most desirable ore known for fluxing and are always competing for it. The property has an immense underground workings, reaching for a distance of over five miles. The property was formerly owned by O'Meara and Lynch. The O'Meara's disposed of their holdings to J. S. McCord and company, so that the property is owned in its entirety by Lynch and McCord.

The corporation has been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. E. J. Roberts, who is considered an eminent authority in the mining world, and his technical education and practical experience, will be a vast benefit to the company. The mine has heretofore been handicapped by the lack of a practical man and this will in the future be remedied. It is the intention of the present management to ship at least two cars of ore every month.

ARTHUR BURROWS AT THE BUTLER

With a stage setting of a cathedral and the robe of the original principal, Arthur Burrows, tenor, gave Tonopah the most finished and artistic rendition of the prologue from Cavalliera Rusticana, that has been heard this side of New York. Mr. Burrows has an operatic tenor, with an immense compass. His enunciation is distinct, and he seems to feel the part he portrays. The adaptation of Mascagni's masterpiece, with Arthur Burrows' version is grand. Both houses were crowded, the second show affording less than standing room.

Sam Haas is to be congratulated on securing the service of this wonderful voice. Mr. Burrows responded to repeated encores, and sang "Come Into the Garden, Maud," also that beautiful story, "Annie Laurie."

The moving pictures were fine, particularly the film of Robinson Crusoe. "Life of a French Sailor" is a particular story for particular people, showing life and living on a man of war. Miss Emmett sang two pretty songs, beautifully illustrated.

LIGHTNING STRIKES POLE NEAR CELTIC

A sharp flash of lightning at 12:40 yesterday noon, which was followed by a loud crash of thunder, struck a pole in the vicinity of the Celtic house on Florence avenue and created consternation among the residents of that district. The electric fluid put the power line out of commission for almost two hours.

POLITICAL POT IS SIMMERING

SEVERAL WEEKS BEFORE IT WILL GET TO BOILING POINT.

The political pot has begun to simmer. Cancauses are being held in stairways, back rooms and everywhere but the saloon, for the smooth politician doesn't know whether the prohibition wave has gotten further west than the breweries of Cincinnati or not, or it may be that the advance wave of prosperity hasn't got its strangle hold upon him to such an extent that he will be compelled to jar loose to the extent of a round of drinks.

The Democratic caucus will be held tonight at Miners' Exchange hall for the purpose of selecting delegates to the state convention to be voted for at the primaries at August 5. The state convention will be held in Tonopah on August 31, at which the untiered and unwashed will be given a chance to get their lungs in training. There will be a Kilkenny cat fight for every office down to the lowest on the calendar and the chances are 16 to 1 that the stillette will be rammed in so deep after the conventions are over that the Republicans will have a walk over.

L. A. Gibbons returned yesterday from a trip to Reno, where a conference of leading Republicans was held. National Committeeman Flannigan announced that a most effective campaign would be waged by the Republicans and that every endeavor will be made to place Nevada in the Republican column, where she rightfully belongs. The Republicans will put up a fight to elect every man on the ticket and the national campaign committee will send its most effective speakers to stump the state. They will give particular support to congressmen and members of the legislature, so that the man to succeed Francis Newlands in the United States senate shall be a Republican.

Democratic Meeting Tonight

Regular meeting of Democratic club at Miners' Union hall tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. Also caucus of Democrats to nominate delegates to state convention to be elected at primary election August 5.

NEW STRIKE MADE AT WALKER LAKE

Wafted across the sun kissed desert comes the news of a rich find in the hills to the east of Walker lake, some five miles from the railroad station known as Walker Siding, says the Mina Miner. The strike was made on the property formerly owned by Harry Howland and associates, but which was recently taken on $20,000 bond with a $4000 cash payment, by Tonopah capitalists. The ledges, which are strong and well defined, carry good values in gold, silver and copper on the surface. The find just made, according to reliable reports, is free gold, going in values about $1 per pound. Considerable excitement has been created and applications for leases are pouring in on the new company. L. K. Gregory and associates own the property which endlines the rich strike, and Mr. Gregory was called from Mina to the scene of where he is now laying the property off in blocks, at the insistent demand of miners who are after leases. It is believed that the same ledge cuts the property of Gregory and associates.

TRUTH ABOUT SCOTTY'S MINE

Sidney Norman, mining editor of the Los Angeles Times, A. D. Meyers, locator of the famous Mohawk, and Rol King, the well known proprietor of the Hollenbeck bar, have just returned from a trip to Death valley, where Death Valley Scotty lured them with promises of revealing the secret location of his wonderfully rich mine. Editor Norman tells the thrilling story of the party's experience in last Sunday's Times. It seems after arriving in the vicinity of Scotty's fabled mine, the desert fader drove off the mules, leaving the trio for seven days and nights encamped in the hell on earth, 275 feet below sea level, fighting horsemies as big as bats by day and suffering intensely from the heat. Scotty left camp ostensibly to find the mules and was met returning after seven days by Norman and Meyer, who walked to Furnace Creek for a team to send after King, who was very sick and unable to make the trip on foot. Both Norman and Meyer were willing to accompany Scotty back, but the Death Valley "mystery" hedged by saying they had better return to Barstow and make a new start in ten days. Norman sizes up the great desert faker as follows:

"Death Valley Scotty, perpetrator of the greatest and longest-sustained mining hoax of the day, has utterly failed to show title to mining property of value, and must now be classed among the biggest fakes in the mining world. There is no question on that score—he has utterly failed to make good one one point and, pushed to the limit, has again had recourse to his shrewdness tricks of deceit. An attempt was made to resurrect the grisly fake a few weeks ago, but even in its cheap dime-novel shroud it was too feeble to stand the searchlight of truth and has again retired to its charnel house in the Valley of Death. There let it rest—a warning to the gullible and the foolish. I assisted in the attempted resurrection. May the Lord forgive me."

"I have recently returned from a three-weeks' trip to the scene of the alleged mine, impelled thitherward by thirst for a 'story.' Induced by Scotty's promise that he had tired of the desert life and was ready to show his great wealth-producer to a quivering world. To say I was disgusted would be putting it mildly. I was disgusted, sure, and footsore to boot. My disgust was not brought on by the fact that I did not see the mine (that goes without saying) but because the whole business was so coarse, so cheap and so palpably rotten. I had expected to meet a clever man with a clever scheme, but alas! I met but a penny Dare-Devil-Dick of the Desert, woefully lacking in ingenuity of the highclass kind, clutching a whisky bottle by the neck and posing like a five-cent hero in a five-cent drama on the Barbary Coast. "So far as I am concerned, Death valley is but an unpleasant memory: wild horses could not drag me there again. And I think that any man who will follow the Scotty will-o-the-wisp is a fool and should earn automatic entry to Matteawan or any other resting place for the criminally insane. He is just a faker and one who would be called by another and harsher name if his victims of the past had not been afraid of bringing the laugh down on themselves by exposing him through the channels of the law."
